22nd Annual Scientific Sessions Celebrating Diversity in Nursing Science

Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to the 22nd Annual Scientific Sessions! This year's theme, "Celebrating Diversity in Nursing Science" focuses on valuing different approaches to nursing research and the importance of research dissemination and translation among diverse professional, clinical, and societal levels.

The conference begins on Wednesday with Dr. Margaret Heitkemper discussing "Merging Biological and Behavioral Methods: A Model for Symptom Management." We are delighted to have Dr. Heitkemper and look forward to an invigorating opening address. Wednesday continues with panels discussing economic analyses, research funding, publishing, and pilot studies. We are also pleased to have Dr. Joan Austin from NINR who will host a dialogue on Building Nursing Research Wednesday afternoon. We continue our pace into Thursday morning with a panel on Nursing Research in a Clinical Setting. Additional featured speakers and selected papers contribute to a particularly strong program throughout our time in Providence. Special poster sessions featuring Magnet Organizations, peer-reviewed research, and student presentations highlight morning, afternoon and evening sessions. Our Mentor/Mentee plenary session at the close of the conference provides a great opportunity for individuals of all experience levels to network and exchange ideas – don't miss it!

The Conference Planning Committee, chaired by ENRS President-Elect Dr. Nancy Redeker has developed a wonderful program full of progressive education, networking opportunities, and a showcase of the best work being done throughout the Northeast and beyond. As in years past, our Abstract Review Committee deserves kudos for all their efforts in reviewing exceptional submissions that clearly demonstrate that we are building nursing science.

At ENRS, we are fortunate to have a strong foundation of support from collegial institutions. The Scientific Sessions would not thrive without the generous support of our sponsors: Columbia University, The Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science, Hunter-Bellevue, Lippincott, Williams & Wilkins, Massachusetts General Hospital, New York University, Penn State University, Sigma Theta Tau, the State of Rhode Island, University of Connecticut, University of Massachusetts-Amherst, University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, University of Rhode Island, University of Rochester, Villanova University and Yale University. Our exhibit hall is also filled with excellent institutions and companies showcasing products, services, and opportunities for education. I encourage you to visit with each of these organizations.

The ENRS Business Meeting is being held on Thursday afternoon at 12:30 pm. Members can hear about Board and Committee initiatives, see a snapshot of how the Society's resources are utilized, and discuss activities for Board consideration. We are also recognizing and honoring our award recipients during this luncheon.

We have a busy schedule! Thank you for coming to Providence to share your knowledge and experience and to participate in the 22nd Annual Scientific Sessions. Welcome, and enjoy your time over the next three days.

Sincerely,

Judith Erlen, PhD, RN, FAAN
President, Eastern Nursing Research Society

SCIENTIFIC SERIES B

PAPER SESSION B1: Providence I & IV - Third Floor

Contemporary Nursing Workforce Issues

- Nurses' and Nursing Assistants' Reports of Missed Care and Delegation, Nancy Phoenix Bittner, PhD, RN, CCRN, Regis College
- Nurse Burnout and Quality of Care: Cross-national Investigation in Six Countries, Lusine Poghosyan, PhD, MPH, RN, Northeastern University
- Do Magnet Recognized Hospitals Provide Better Care?, Marie-Claire Rosenberg, PhD, RN, New York University
- The Type of Nurse Matters: The Effects of Nurse Staffing Levels, Non-RNs, and Contract Nurses on Length of Stay, Pat W. Stone, PhD, FAAN, Columbia University Center for Health Policy

PAPER SESSION B2: Providence II & III - Third Floor

Innovative Approaches to Improving Quality and Safety in Healthcare

- The Relationships of Workforce, Leadership, Empowerment, and Role Preparation to Intent-to-Stay in the Organization Among Traditional and Accelerated BSN Graduates, Carolyn L. Davidson, RN, PhD, CCRN, APRN, Lehigh Valley Health Network
- High-Quality Nursing: The Perspective of Hospital-Based Nurses, Daniel D. Cline, MSN, CRNP, New York University
- Deficiencies in Nurses' ECG Monitoring Knowledge: Preliminary Results of the Practical Use of the Latest Standards for Electrocardiography (PULSE) Trial, Marjorie Funk, PhD, RN, FAHA, FAAN, Yale University
- A Description of Correlates and Factors Contributing to Medication Errors in Acute Care Nurses, Kathleen F. Sellers, PhD, RN, SUNY Institute of Technology

PAPER SESSION B3: Newport/Washington - Third Floor

Nursing Research and Disparities in Health and Health Outcomes

- Related Support Services Needs Identified by African American Breast Cancer Survivors, Sharon M. Mills-Wisneski, PhD, RN, Oakland University
- The Effect of a Structured Writing Intervention in Black Women Living with HIV, Rosanna F. DeMarco, PhD, PHCNS-BC, ACRN, FAAN, Boston College
- Making Ends Meet: Community Health Work Among an Urban Minority, 1912-1922, Margo Brooks Carthon, PhD, RN, APRN, University of Pennsylvania

RIG SYMPOSIUM B4: Bristol/Kent - Third Floor

Family Community-Based Participatory Research Methods: Challenges in Balancing Rigor and Reality

- Studying Clinical Phenomenon in Diverse Family Structures, Katherine Patterson Kelly, PhD, RN, PCNS-BC, Children's National Medical Center
- Family and Community-Based Participatory Research Methods: Challenges in Balancing Rigor and Reality, Susan DeSanto-Madeya, PhD, RN, CNS, University of Massachusetts-Boston
- Challenges and Strategies in the Design and Conduct of End-of-Life Research with Individuals with Advanced Cancer and their Caregivers, Susan DeSanto-Madeya, PhD, RN, CNS, University of Massachusetts-Boston
- Identifying, Recruiting, and Retaining Women with Postpartum Depression for Research, June Horowitz, PhD, RN, CNS, FAAN, Boston College
- Strategies to Address Challenges in Research with Individuals and Families Experiencing Very Sensitive Issues, Helene Moriarty, PhD, RN, PMHCNS-BC, Veterans Affairs Medical Center
- Challenges in Measuring Perceptions of Community Support and Services for Older Adults, Veronica Rempusheski, PhD, RN, FAAN, University of Delaware

RIG SYMPOSIUM B5: Waterplace II & III - Second Floor

Facilitating Translational Aging Research in the Northeast

- Facilitating Translational Aging Research in the Northeast, Meg Bourbonniere, PhD, RN, Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center
- Heart Failure Symptom Monitoring, Awareness & Response Training: A Novel Method to Educate Heart Failure Patients, Corrine Jurgens, PhD, RN, ANP-BC, FAHA, Stony Brook University
- A Study of the Impact of a Structured Geriatric Program on a Medical Unit, Deborah D'Avolio, PhD, APRN-BC, Massachusetts General Hospital
- It's About Time: Barriers to Use of Non-pharmacological Interventions in the Nursing Home, Ann Kolanowski, PhD, RN, FAAN, The Pennsylvania State University
- Strengthening Networking to Enhance Translational Research in Aging in the Northeast, Meg Bourbonniere, PhD, RN, Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center

Conference Objectives

1. Appreciate the diversity in theoretical, substantive and methodological approaches to enhancing health through nursing science.
2. Evaluate the implications of nursing research relative to enhancing health in diverse populations and settings.
3. Promote dissemination and translation of nursing research at professional, community, clinical and societal levels.
4. Utilize scientific evidence to support nursing practice.

Conference Highlights

- Opening Keynote Speaker, Dr. Margaret Heitkemper will present "Merging Biological and Behavioral Methods: A Model for Symptom Management Research"
- Focus on diversity in nursing science as presented in numerous podium, poster, and symposium presentations
- Wednesday afternoon research development sessions for novice to expert nurse scientists led by renowned nurse scientists
- Wednesday afternoon special topics sessions on cost effectiveness research and the role of pilot studies in treatment development
- Thursday morning panel on role of the clinical nurse research
- NEW THIS YEAR! Friday afternoon session with focus on building mentor-mentee relationships
- Awards for doctoral and BS/MS presentations
- Symposia presentations by the Aging, Family/Community-Based interventions, and Nursing Theory Research Interest Groups
- Magnet Hospital poster presentations
- Opportunities to network with colleagues from academic and clinical settings

Care to change the world.™

UNIVERSITY of PENNSYLVANIA
SCHOOL of NURSING

www.nursing.upenn.edu

Ranked 2nd in National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding, Penn Nursing Science is leading the nation and the world in advancing the science of nursing to improve outcomes. The University of Pennsylvania is the place where leaders in nursing science want to learn, teach, and conduct research to change healthcare throughout the world.

The research we perform defines the course of healthcare practice around the globe, and the students we educate gain the experience and exposure only an Ivy League education can provide at the baccalaureate, masters, and doctoral level.

BSN to PhD, MS to PhD, and MSN to PhD

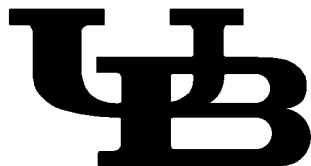

We congratulate Victoria Pak, RN, MS

An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer

The University of Rochester School of Nursing offers the chance to work in a dynamic environment where collaboration thrives, innovation is embraced and excellence is pursued by all. As part of the University of Rochester Medical Center—one of the fastest growing academic health centers in the United States—the School of Nursing’s resources are extensive and its opportunities for research and professional development are vast.

We are currently recruiting for two leadership positions. We are also interested in speaking with candidates interested in junior faculty positions.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

UNIVERSITY of ROCHESTER MEDICAL CENTER

Associate Dean for Faculty Development and Diversity

The Associate Dean for Faculty Development and Diversity will be responsible for creating and carrying out a comprehensive approach to facilitating the professional growth of an increasingly diverse faculty. This individual will help identify faculty needs for mentorship across career trajectories, enhance collaborative efforts both within and outside of the University, and work to develop new initiatives to cultivate diversity and inclusiveness.

Responsibilities will include actively participating with appropriate committees to oversee all faculty appointments, tenure, and promotions; participating in the recruitment of a diverse and interdisciplinary faculty, including graduate students and post-doctoral fellows currently at the University; assisting in the development of comprehensive mentorship plans for junior and mid-level faculty; and serving as a resource for access to and development of diversity grants.

Associate Dean for Research and Scholarship

The Associate Dean for Research will be responsible for developing and executing a comprehensive plan to move the School to the next level of distinction in the areas of both research and scholarship.

Responsibilities will include providing strategic planning and management of the School’s research agenda including policy making and oversight, benchmarking and accountability for cost-effective operation of the research mission. The individual selected will also facilitate communications and collaboration of research by representing the School’s research agenda and establishing linkages across campus and outside of the University. In addition to identifying and arranging mentorship and funding for postdoctoral fellows, the Associate Dean for Research and Scholarship will provide oversight of the School’s Research Center, assist faculty in their efforts to increase research productivity, and assess opportunities for new programs of research and sponsored projects.

Both opportunities are 12-month, full-time faculty positions. A doctoral degree in nursing or a related discipline is required, and the ideal candidates should have distinctive records of extramural funding and scholarly publications. Interested candidates should contact Lukira Carroll at: Lukira_Carroll@urmc.rochester.edu
